

We Will Reach this Beach

All we want
is to grab youth
with both hands.
Instead health
slips through our fingers
like sand.
But we hope
it will fall
into a beach
of gratitude.
Where with strengthened arms in the sunrise
we will build castles of belief.
The proof being that their towers will reach creativity skies.
Their moats will run deep
with insight
and flow into the sea
of many friendships,
where the waves will gleam
with the light of mutual understanding and respect.

Sylvia Lara Lake
25 September 2023